Cosmetotextiles: Skin care you can wear

Dr. Raymond Mathis, Director of Technology, Delivery Systems, Care Chemicals at Cognis, presents the concept of cosmetotextiles. The types of textiles and their functions are continuously evolving, and today modern finishes can add a new dimension to a textile's function. Integrating cosmetics into textiles offers a unique platform for delivering such products while a garment is being worn. The increased convenience coupled with functionality converts cosmetotextiles into true "active" players that can help increase our sense of wellbeing. COSSMA subscribers have access to the reference list. They can also download two scientific background articles
