

At a glance

Service providers

There are plenty of service providers in the cosmetics manufacturing sector. But it is often a good, practical plan, to buy in services as part of a full service package. This market is of course continuously in motion, which makes it all the more important to stay in touch with what is actually going on here. To help with this task we bring you once again our valuable, and fully updated, market survey of service providers. The survey shows you, at a glance, which providers provide which kinds of service, and what their main speciality is.

In this market survey table we have listed about 150 service providers. Many of them (more than 60, in fact) are contract manufacturers. Depending on the supplier they can take on product order work, production and packaging, as well as logistics.

The 30 laboratory service providers that we have named are in a position to carry out most of the necessary tests. This means not only stability tests but also efficacy tests and skin tolerance tests.

The 21 promotional agents listed offer assistance if, for example, you need a powerful advertising campaign. Or perhaps you are seeking a really innovative packaging idea, one that stands out from the "run of the mill" packs. This is where it is usually a good idea to take on a design agency that already has experience in the cosmetics packaging business. Or are you looking for a completely new field for your cosmetic products, where you can find new impulses?

Well, we have listed here 16 different business consultants, and 16 training providers, as well as exhibition organisers and 9 software suppliers.

And there are a lot of suppliers that offer other services. Just browse through the listing for a few minutes, and see if there is something just right for you!

Would you like your company to be listed here? Well, you can book your place now in our 2014 survey. Just fill in the form at www.cosma.com/marktuebersicht and send it to us fully completed.
